MISS ROACH

This year has been an annus mirabilis, a year of wonders. We have built our new Junior School and our new Senior School double gym. We have increased our awareness of the environment and are recycling paper and cans. We have purchased compost cones and, with the help of staff and students, we have started a project to landscape the lands around our new buildings and adjacent wooded hillside in an ecologically, aesthetically and economically sound way to preserve our trees and to attract animals and birds. Staff and students have attended conferences on the preservation of our environment. We have increased our volunteer activity enormously and are proud of these girls.

In other words, we not only enjoy new facilities, new surroundings which we have all had a hand in creating, but also we have turned our eyes outwards to the rest of the world more than ever before in order to help others and to improve the environment which we all share.

This year has also been the first experience that most of us have had with war and despite our fears and our ignorance and the many conflicting attitudes and allegiances which our multicultural school embraces we have remained a community. May we always respect the beliefs and contribution of others and take pride in our ability to maintain a supportive community which enjoys the diverse backgrounds of all its members.

AMY FISHER

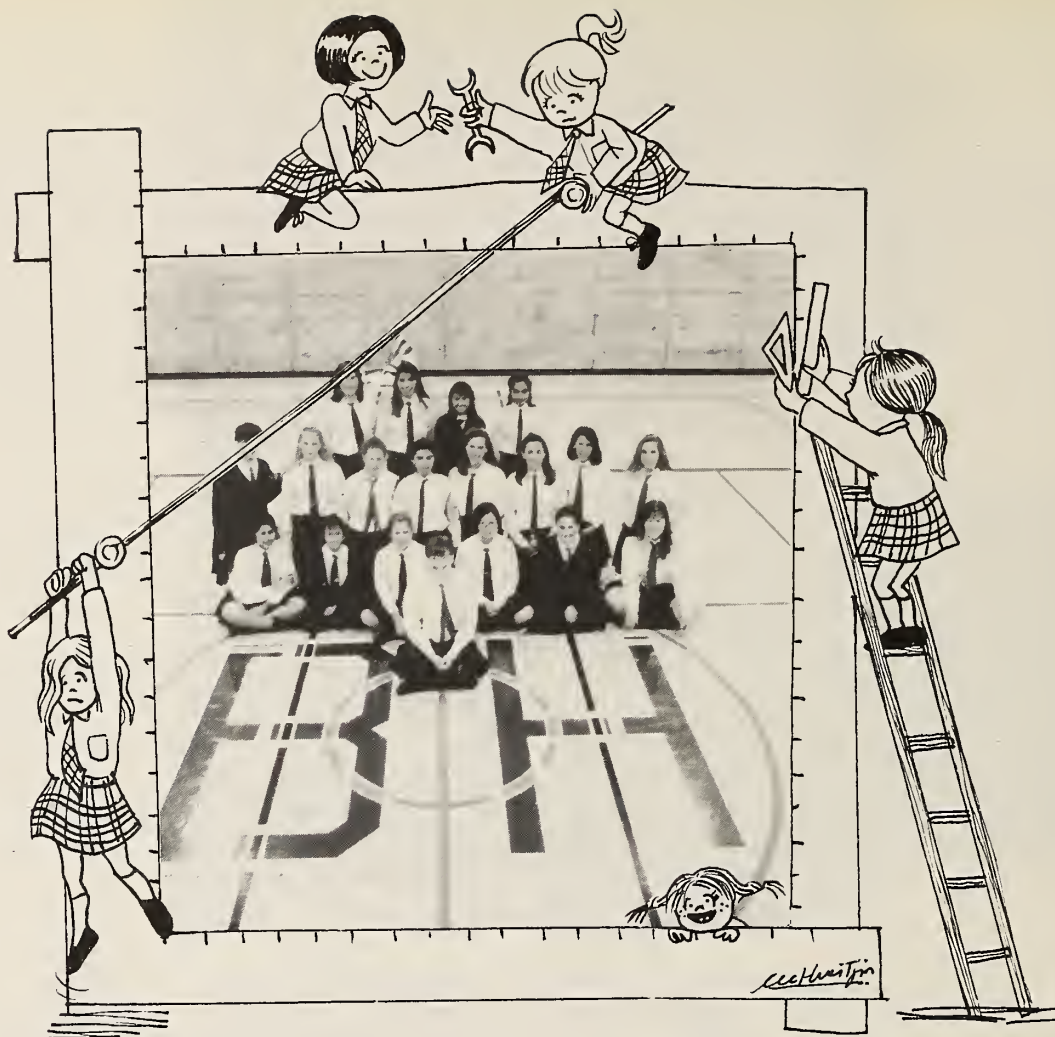

"... and the best is yet to come."

These are the words that were spoken to me before this year started, and truer words have never been said. This year has been one of the best ever in Branksome history.

We opened the new senior gym and the new junior school after a long and tiring campaign. This really proves what the Branksome community is capable of when we put our minds to something. Our achievements, however, do not stop at this. We have had the best year yet in terms of volunteer work and community service. Our support of charities with both time and money exceeded everyone's expectations. Our teams have continued to excel in all their competitions. The music department put on a number of outstanding performances as well as participating in the I.S.M.F. We put on several productions, including Pizzazz and Our Town. We also showed the true Branksome colours to all the other schools at such events as Autumn Games, the lip sync contest and the challenge. We have heard speakers on just about every topic imaginable including abortion, child abuse and the crisis in the Middle East.

Each year Branksome shows more and more what it is made of. This year was no exception. I hope that the tradition of spirit and enthusiasm will never end at Branksome. Thanks for everything.

Amy

It is now time for me to sit down and write this year's editorial. My goal is to somehow relate to you the amount of hard work and dedication that lies behind what you now hold in your hot little hands. Perhaps, in doing so I may shed a new light on this school's yearbook, a step beyond simply showing up for a team picture or returning your address update sheet.

This year's Slogan has had a complete new change of face. In working with a new company, it has been very fascinating to both explore and use the many new options that are offered. Another exciting addition to the Slogan has been the two editors from the Junior School, Kristen and Zaylin.

On having just completed one of our "Slogan Saturday/Sundays" it is clear to me that the staff of the 1991 Slogan has are both diligent and concerned. They have spent numerous hours working on organizing their sections, making sure that there is as much student representation as possible, proof-reading write-ups, and most importantly scrutinizing whether or not you will be pleased with their results.

On behalf of the Slogan staff I would like to thank all of our staff advisors, Mrs. Reid, Miss Hikida, and Mrs. Hockin, who have put many hours into helping us all, which no doubt has been a lot of hard work! To the rest of the Slogan staff, here's to a job well done!

Well, here it is! I hope that this year's Slogan will bring plenty of laughs and memories, not only now, but in twenty years, of your time at Branksome Hall.

SPORTS BANQUETS 1990

Last year we had an unusual, but exciting, Sports Banquet in the Junior School. Because of ongoing construction, we decided to have a picnic on the floor of the Library/Arts/Assembly area instead of the usual banquet theme.

Three different kinds of awards honoured the most valuable, most improved, and most outstanding girl in each club or team. In addition, Gym Ribbette Awards were presented to the girls who always seemed to be at an activity, whether they were helping, playing, coaching, or just there to cheer the team on.

Thank you students and teachers who came to the seventh annual Sports Banquet - or rather picnic - for your time, commitment, and especially for your keen interest in sports - even the cheers make a difference. A special thanks to the "Solid Green" Dancers who danced their way through time. Even with the lack of facilities, the spirit and enthusiasm of our Junior School never died.

Thanks, Katie Earle, for being a terrific master of ceremonies, and for your tremendous patience and understanding which helped us all get through a very unusual year. A special thanks to a certain someone who is constantly organizing and planning our sporting events, Mrs. Georgievski - you're fantastic!

- 2) Senior Division: the average includes the best 7 marks or the best 6 if 3 OAC's were earned.

The girls in grades 7 and 8 attained an average of at least 85.0% in order to be awarded honours.

SUPPORT STAFF

Behind the scenes at Branksome Hall we have a large support staff who go largely unnoticed. As they quietly and efficiently carry out their jobs we frequently miss what they do. And what is it that they do? Provide 24 hour health care, meals, chocolate chip cookies; set up chairs for evening events; clean up after events; plough snow; fix broken chairs; send out monthly bills; collect funds for the capital campaign; compile the newsletter; type university applications; answer phones; give tours to prospective families; run the junior school office; provide technical services for both junior and senior school libraries; run the extended day program for JK-grade 4 students and look after the staff's young children -- a long but by no means complete list. Thank you one and all.

RETIREMENTS

PHYLLIS RALPH

When I first came to Branksome I met a soft spoken, dark haired lady who greeted me warmly for she had graduated from Vaughan Road Collegiate, the school at which I had taught. Immediately, I felt a bond and my friendship with Phyllis continued through our long association at Branksome. A young man, employed for the summer, once remarked, "Miss Duperley runs the school and if you want serenity, go to the last office on your right," Phyllis' office. And Phyllis is serene and always faced any crisis or problem with calm intelligence and treated any irate or worried adult or child with calm understanding. She is a much loved member of the Branksome family and we all wish her a pleasant, satisfying retirement. We miss her very much.

MRS. PENNY

It is my great pleasure to be a new member of the Branksome family, especially during this exciting year of change in the Junior School. We move into facilities which are large, airy, very modern and up-to-date, so that our girls will enjoy an even better program than they currently do. And we'll be together again!

One of my chief sources of pride has been the enthusiasm of the students for projects which require them to work hard outside the classroom. Our girls have raised money through a magazine drive for their new school, have sponsored a Haitian foster sister, have wrapped Christmas gifts for Robertson House, donated food to the Salvation Army and collected for Unicef. They have run for cancer research in the Terry Fox Run and for the preservation of the Amazon Rain Forest under the direction of student Kate Hepburn. Under the fun-loving leadership of their clan chieftans and Ginny Clark they have organized and participated in mascot contests, a variety of games, snow-sculpture and much more. They have field-tripped all over Toronto, to Norval Outdoor Education Centre, to Boston and Washington. I can't keep up!

So many thanks are due. To all the teachers who work early and late every day, and especially to Miss Brough who is always available to do the extras, thank you. To Miss Healey and Miss Roach who have also helped guide me and to Mrs. Young who organizes everyone of our days with a smile, thank you. To Lindsay Oughtred our wonderfully capable and sweet Junior School prefect, thank you. To all the moms and dads who support Branksome, thank you. And most of all, thank you to the Junior School girls who make all education fun.

LINDSAY

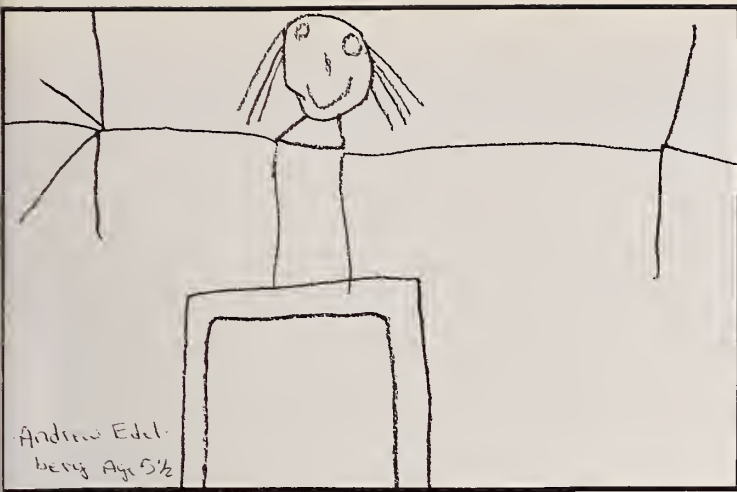

Wow! What a year to be the Junior School Prefect! I could not have asked for a better year to go back in time and relive my years as a Junior School Girl.

The new Principal, Mrs. Penny, the many wonderful new staff and of course, an unbelievable new building have made this year an exceptionally exciting one. However, it would be unfair not to mention the enthusiastic students of the Junior School that have made this year memorable. Their never ending energy and happiness was always very welcoming when I visited the "west side."

We have been successful in all of our endeavours this year. The grade Sevens and Eights enjoyed social events with their respective grades from Upper Canada College (however dances are still in great demand!) The primary had a visit with Santa, Mrs. Claus, and the elves. The whole Junior School was involved in a week of activities that raised money for Camp Oochigeas (a camp for kids with cancer.) The Junior School also actively participated in an environmental awareness week. Of course a year could not go by without "Big Sister/Little Sister," a popular activity for both the Junior and Senior girls! These activities and others have made this an absolutely incredible year for me! I am really going to miss the Junior School next year.

In conclusion, I would like to thank Miss Brough, Ginny and the chieftains. I very much enjoyed working with you! Thank you Junior School for the best year out of all the ten years I have been at Branksome Hall. I will definitely be back to visit.

Keep Well The Road.
LOTS OF LOVE,

Last Christmas

Last Christmas it was very cold
And you know what I liked to hold
A hot cup of chocolate
It sure was good
One day I went outside
And pulled up my hood
I put on my mitt
But it did not fit
So I took it off
And I started to cough
I walked out the door
And saw someone poor
I wanted to give her a gift for Xmas
So I walked inside my warm house
And I pulled out a toy mouse
It did not seem quite right
So I thought I might
Be able to share
For that woman out there
She needed a friend
My hand I'll extend
Now everyday we jump for glee
Because she has a friend in me

OH, HOW I LOVE AUTUMN

Autumn is my favorite season,
And here are a few of my reasons,
Lots of leaves to play and jump in,
Lots of fun while carving pumpkins,
Oh, how I love Autumn.

Red, yellow, and orange leaves,
Falling from all the trees
Trick-or-treating is so much fun,
Autumn is fun for everyone!
Oh, how I love Autumn

THINGS

Things, things, oh glorious things.
 Things are here, things are there.
 Things are everywhere.
 Things can sing, things can dance.
 Things are funny, things are sad.
 But most of the time,
 Things are not all that bad.
 Things jump, things skip,
 Things laugh, things sing.
 You can think things up,
 You can think things down.

All the things you think up,
 You will never think down,
 Because things are just the most
 Glorious things
 And they are
 All for you,
 You lucky little Thing!!

LOCKERS

If you try to stuff all your books in
That tall locker that's ever so thin,
When you open it up with extra care
The 'AVALANCHE' will meet you there.

You try to look neat, but it's so hard.
When you open your locker you know you'll get scared.
You wear a football helmet to protect your head
From the shower of books that feel heavy as lead.

But then you can't find your lunch
for a snack.
Your lunch is all squished under all of your books
And you feel you will gag when you see how it looks.

You don't understand why things
don't fit inside,
Oh! Some milk crates! They'll prevent the, the mud slide.
And if I put everything I don't need away,
Then I'll have lots more room
Hurray!

WILLOW RYGULA

THE DOOR

With an eerie sense of foreboding,
I fearfully approached that place of loathing.
And, as my hand timidly touched the door,
I felt a cold, icy shiver.
As I saw blood trickle to the floor.

Shapes were slowly blurred,
My voice was all slurred,
All sounds were deadened,
And my steps were leaden.

Fear overtook me with its clammy finger,
And I told myself I'd better not linger.
But my fear was so strong,
And it kept me there too long.

Helplessly, I was pulled back to that door,
Inside, rattling chains on a creaky floor,
Sudden winds blew the swirling mist,
And I knew I could, no more, resist.

My hand fearfully grabbed the handle,
And started burning like a candle,
Footsteps creaking upon the staircase
And at the window, a ghost face.

Suddenly, the mysterious door flew open,
And my hand was pulled off, almost broken,
A sharp, piercing feeling came to my chest,
And once again blood made a nest.

But this death was only one,
For the task is yet not done.

THE FIRST LOOK AT A PAINTING
BY FRANKLIN CARMICHAEL

As I walk on the verge of detachment
From the realistic world,
Magic bubbles inside of me
Like in the golden mauve mist
Tinkling, delicate, sounds fill the air, calling ...
Leading me into a fairy-tale world.
Pink and yellow trees, clusters of gold sparkles in the air
This mystical land of mine is eternity
Filled with peace and a kind of enchantingness ...
Could this be real?
My heart sings yes, but my mind wonders forever more ...

Zaylin Lalji

The glorious sounds
Fill my mind
I hear them ringing
Over, and over
They release my problems
Send me on a journey
Peaceful, quiet
And even for just a moment

I am separate
Alone in a musical world
Music to soothe the savage beast
I am that savage beast
And the music sets me free

TENNIS 12 AND UNDER

The 1990 tennis season for the 12 & under team was very successful. With some hard work the team was able to come up with a tie against B.S.S. in an exhibition match, a win against St. Clements and a lot of close games. We would like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Thompson and her assistant for the time and coaching that helped make this season a SMASH!

TENNIS 13 AND UNDER

Although it was tough getting court time, with all the construction and dust, the rowdy 13's tennis team pulled through. We won our game against a tough St. Clements team, and the rest of our games were close tie-breakers. Many thanks to everyone that came out and special thanks to our coach Mrs. Thompson. We had an awesome year.

SOFTBALL 12 AND UNDER

The Twelve and Under Softball team played a short, three game season this spring. In spite of being confined to the gym for practices, and playing with a mushball the girls managed to win one game against Havergal. There were many excellent players on this year's team; surely they will prove to be an outstanding team next season. Have fun.

SOFTBALL 13 AND UNDER

In the spring of 1990, the lower field was not available due to construction of the new junior school. Practices were held in the gym and the girls coped with mushballs, pylons instead of bases and handling rebounds off the walls and ceiling. Despite this, the girls played extremely well, beating both B.S.S. and Havergal and losing a 1-0 Squeaker to St. Clements.

TRACK AND FIELD

This/Last year the team had limited practice space at Branksome so we were fortunate enough to train at the U of T Track. This gave us the opportunity to learn how to get ourselves up at 5 a.m. and sleepwalk to U of T. However, it also gave us the opportunity to observe and learn from the U of T runners (preferably male). But we also learned things other than running, jumping and throwing. At the meet at U.C.C. (another chance to observe other runners), Mrs. G. was kind enough to show us what happens to a big blue golf umbrella when you bring it out on a blustery day. Many of us also picked up some tips for washing mud stains out of gym suits. Overall, we had a great term and thanks to Mrs. Georgierski, Mrs. Gillies, Mrs. Hardie and Ms. Milne-Ives, we came out on top in rain or shine. (Rain meaning sleet, wind, hail, thunder, lightning, more wind, snow, more hail, etc.)

CROSS-COUNTRY

And so ends another very successful X-Country year. Actually, let me rephrase that, successful and tiring X-Country year. Just ask any X-Countryer about the "supposed" small hills that they've had to run up, or the "little puddles" of water that they've had to run through, and they'll tell you that there's more to X-Country than just hot dogs and donuts. This year, we were very lucky to have had such a large X-County team. Thanks to everyone who ran at the ISAAG meet, we won the trophy for the second consecutive year. I would like to congratulate everyone for not only running like the wind, but for being so dedicated to the team, especially Katie Pearce, Verity Hoskins and Megan Earle.

Great work guys! Keep it up and have fun next year!

BASKETBALL 12 AND UNDER

This year's twelve and under basketball team had an amazing season. With help from our great coaches Mrs. Gillies and Amanda Hollaran we learned lots of new strategies, techniques and for most of us, how to play basketball. We had many exciting and new experiences, ranging from getting lost and abandoned in our taxis while trying to find T.F.S., to learning how to seriously PSYCH out our opponents. We were beaten physically but not psychologically. It was a great season, hope to see everybody out there next year.

BASKETBALL 13 AND UNDER

1990 has been an excellent season for the under 13 basketball team. The team showed great enthusiasm and courage throughout the season. We worked on our basic skills and teamwork on the court, and this led to a third place finish. We lost to Havergal (28-20) and B.S.S. (35-29). With continued determination I am positive that this team will produce better and better results, becoming a tough force on the basketball court. Well-done 13's.

12'S VOLLEYBALL

The Season has just begun for the 12 and under volleyball team. The young, energetic and skilled team is ready and willing to take on every challenge and any team. They are enthusiastic and they have the drive to win. Mrs. G. and Mrs. K., who are the coaches, are excellent in teaching the game to the team. They are the best coaches a team could have. The 12 and under volleyball team is constantly practising. At the practices we learn how to bump bending our knees, to volley with our fingers and to spike with the snap of our wrist. I would like to say that volleyball is a fun and relaxing sport. We are dedicated, hard-working and devoted to the sport.

This year the 13's volleyball players were good sports who demonstrated skill and effort when playing their games. DEBATING

Every Wednesday at 3:30 you can find the debating club sitting in the library, playing games and charades, eating, gossiping and, when time permits, you can even find us debating. With help from three wonderful senior school girls, Kate Bosher, Kate Manson-Smith and Lynne Bradley and teachers Mrs. Hollenberg, Mrs. Chilton and Mrs. Black, debating has been most successful. Branksome Hall hosted a junior independent school debating tournament and we all enjoyed it thoroughly. We look forward to the future when we can use our skills to test our parents and our teachers.

SPORTS DAY '90

Spirit ... Cooperation ... Enthusiasm ... Wild and Wacky Relay Races ... The Buddy Bathroom System ... Tough Competition ... Sports Day has it all!

The Junior School Sports Day, 1990, was held in the old home of St. Andrew's School, Rosedale Park, because of the excavation/renovation of our fields. The walk through Rosedale led to a great day in the heat of spirited competition. The Clan Chieftains led the warm-ups. Supervision was provided by our "super fit" teachers.

The sports ran from the mundane 50 metre sprint to the exotic potato sack hop. The bonuses were free lemonade and popsicles. Everyone had a great time lying in the sun between our athletic endeavours. Thanks to the creative phys-ed staff, the hardworking Chieftains, the supportive Junior School staff, parents, and senior school students, Sports Day was a blast!

Working on the yearbook this year was a very challenging and demanding job. Although it is a lot of hard work, it all paid off when we saw the end result. We learned a lot about the yearbook and how it is produced, and now we realize how much effort people put into the book to make it work. We enjoyed working with Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Hockin, and Sarah, who taught us all we know about headlines to deadlines and stood by us. We thank them for all their hard work. We would also like to thank the entire Junior School for the many fine contributions we received. It was fun to look through and choose the art, poems and stories that were written. It was hard to make all the decisions, but we hope that you like the final product.

We would like to give a very special recognition to Verity Hoskins. She was a great part of our team, always fun and creative, and we were sorry when she moved to Victoria with her family. We also wish to thank Kelly Kwan who helped us with some of our layouts.

It was a great year and we had lots of fun. To Mrs. Penny, thank you very much for all your support, help and enthusiasm.

Love ya, Junior School
Zaylin and Kristen

The school year got off to a slow start but improved as it went along. Due to construction, our lower field wasn't available for soccer this year and we were unable to play, but next year we plan to be number one. Looking on the bright side of things, our teams have done very well. Rumor has it that our thirteen and under cross-country team won a meet that included members of the opposite sex. For the seventh consecutive year, our swim team, with some help from the Senior School, won the Bishop's Cup.

The winter sports activities are just getting underway at the time of this writing.

Our spring sports program will have the use of an improved lower field.

The clans this year are having great fun with "name-the-mascot" and holiday contests. Mrs. Georgievski and I are trying to have clan games every week. When we do have them we have a good turnout and we have lots of fun. We are looking forward to a great new school and gym and when we move in, there will be more activity than ever. Clan contests and games are full of spirit and enthusiasm. So far, we have had a good year and I know that with our new facilities things can only get better.

AINSLIE, AINSLIE, AINSLIE, AINSLIE!!

Well girls, it's been a long time coming, but it's finally here. The year is not over yet, but ... we will get by (and you'll like it boy!!!).

So far it's been ... interesting. After the initial "get-to-know-you" period, we've settled into a period of semi-stability. We've had laughs and tears, all the way to the point of "mass suicide night." We have phone line-ups that sometimes get up to 10 people long. We have 4 showers among 27 of us and a kitchen which is almost constantly occupied.

We also have some of the closest friends we will ever have; our family away from home. We have shoulders to cry on and friends to laugh with. We have everything from the "butt-crew" to "study sessions" to "late-night eating binges."

Remember girls: "You live for a good time not a long time." Nothing's left to do, but

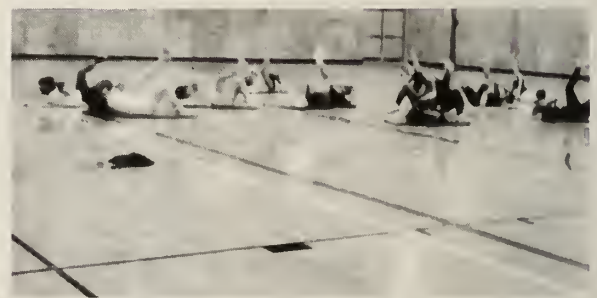

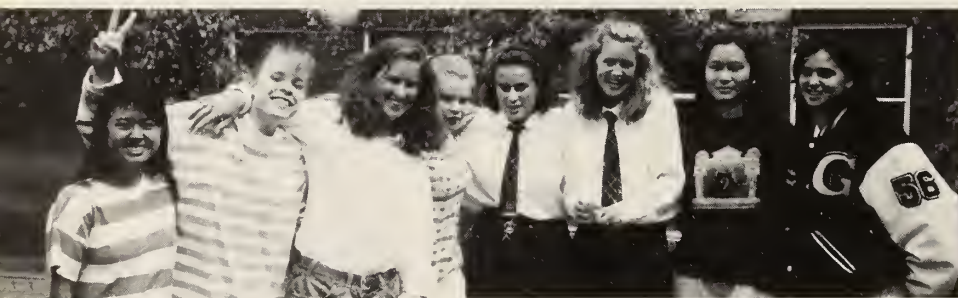

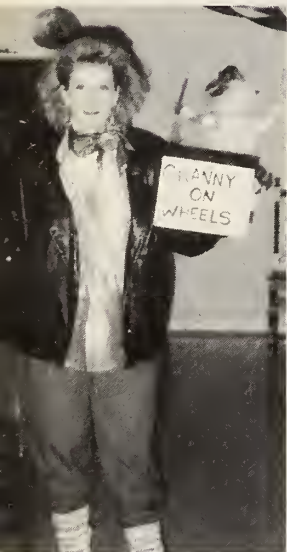

SMILE,
SMILE,
SMILE!!

When I was asked to write for "The Slogan", many thoughts crossed my mind. Some of them I would like to share with you.

First of all, I feel that we are very fortunate to have so many girls who represent many countries and enrich the lives of those (who are) Canadians, and similarly we enlighten our foreign students with Canadian culture and traditions. I feel that Branksome is a "miniature United Nations" as there are girls from Barbados, Bahamas, Dominica, England, Hong Kong, Jamaica, Korea, Mexico, Monserrat, Philippines, St. Croix, St. Kitts, St. Lucia, Singapore, South America, and of course, Canada with girls from "sea to sea".

I then became reflective on how lucky we are to be working with as many caring, interesting and thoughtful people. This is what Branksome is all about! Andrea Jamieson, our Residence Prefect, and Marcy Erskine, our MacNeill House President

Thinking about everything we have done in the past year makes me realize just how much we have done. September - new girls arrive - school starts - first weekend, trips to Kensington, Queen's Quay and Canada's Wonderland - residence council is elected. October - self-defense talk - Halloween with SAC boys and trick or treating. November - first Activity weekend - laser show, movies, hiking. December - MacNeill open house - Christmas dinner, those toasts - CHRISTMAS VACATION. January exams (need I say more). February - Valentine (bring a friend) dinner - new Jr. school is opened - German theme dinner - activity weekend, circus, skiing. March - the Formal - March Break. April - last activity weekend, car wash. May - along with the Residence Council have provided good leadership and have given us many fun times; for example, Hallowe'en, Christmas and other theme dinners. Activity weekends have been planned by these girls to provide many interesting choices; for example, Ski Day, Canada's Wonderland and many more.

There are many other components which help us so much - The Residence Staff, the Teaching Staff, the Administrative Staff, the Health Centre Nurses, the maintenance men, the housekeeping ladies, the Kitchen Staff, the Office Staff, the Parent's Association, and last but not least, Mrs. Lumsdon, our Assistant Director. All these people have helped to make the Branksome Residence run smoothly.

In closing, I would like to thank you all for a good year. Enjoy your summer vacation and "Keep Well the Road". To the graduating year students, may I extend my best wishes to you in all your future endeavours.

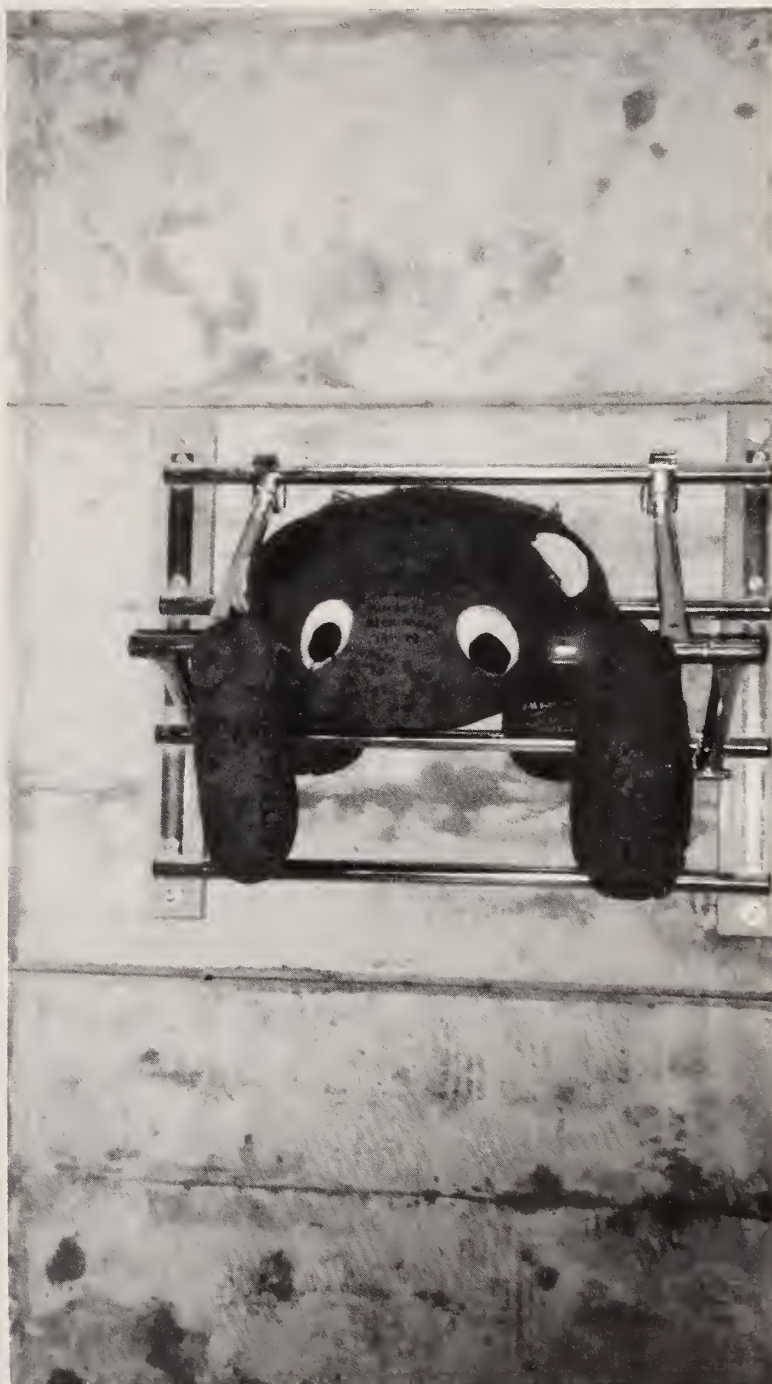

long weekend - one month left - poor Ainslie (the raid). June exams - SUMMER VACATION! It's been a great year and I would like to thank everyone who put her best foot forward and made this year as awesome as it was. Sherborne - don't worry, you'll be here before you know it. Until then hang in there. Buccleuch - sorry girls, maybe next year. Ainslie, so you want to come to MacNeill - we're all done. (If only our parents knew ...) Just one more final question that I am obliged to ask each and everyone of you - IS THERE LIFE AFTER BOARDING?!

Take your rest girls, it's well deserved ...

Andrea

SPORTS

The ISAAG Tennis league is very small; with Branksome, Havergal, Bishop Strachan, and St. Clement's having teams in this age category. Unfortunately, the weather was poor and our season was short. We had a tie match, and two losses. In spite of our poor showing this year, the team consisted of a dedicated group of girls who were very reliable (except for their team picture!) I look forward to coaching this team next year, hoping that some will still be 15!

B. Glennie

15'S TENNIS

16'S TENNIS

This season, Mr. Crawford led a team outstanding in spirit and participation. They had a fine collection of personal skills, and acquired one win, five ties, and one loss. They had a finalist and semi-finalist in the B.S.S. Singles Tournament, and one team made it to the finals in the Raggedy Ann Tournament.

This year we played a short season. Practices were held at Rosedale Park. Everybody was very gracious, especially practicing in the snow at 7:30 a.m. in the morning! Our team played well, winning against St. Clements, and losing to B.S.S. and Havergal.

15'S BASEBALL

16'S BASEBALL

This year was a difficult one, as we had no field of our own, and used Rosedale Park for our practices. The season was a fairly short one that was used as a warm-up for the 1990 season. We did participate in the Raggedy Ann Tournament at Havergal, and we won half our games.

This year was one of excellence for the Track and Field Team. All the girls were very dedicated and hardworking. This paid off throughout the season at the various meets. At the ISAAG's the midjet, junior, and senior teams won resulting in an overall championship. Three records were set: Fiona Cameron in the 3000m, junior division, and Sarah Hunter in the 1500m and 3000m senior division.

In the TDCAA, the Junior girls were the overall champions, and Sarah Hunter was named the Junior athlete of the meet coming first in the 1500m and 3000m. She also placed third in the 800m. Seven girls qualified for OFSAA: Fiona Cameron, Sam Dickie, Sarah Hunter, Andrea MacDonald, Julie Ross, Kerry Walsh, and Natalie Welsh. Their performance at OFSAA was outstanding.

SOCCER

This year the Branksome soccer team had a most victorious season. It was great to be back on the field, since we couldn't play last spring. We used Rosedale Park for our practices, two mornings a week. We worked well together, and it paid off. We tied two games, and won all the rest. Cheers to the team on a most righteous revenge on B.S.S. bringing the I.S.A.A.G. soccer championship home for the first time ever. Good work girls, thanks Mr. McVay, all the best next year!

This year's 15's basketball team was rockin' through the season! We "ironed out" a number of teams (TFS, HTS, etc.) quite nicely, and fought valiantly against such super-teams as BSS (who practiced every day and played in tournaments galore) and Havergal and St. Clement's, our long time rivals. We had the spirit, the skill and the snacks, the latter provided by our great coach, Mrs. Jennings. We had a red hot season with lots of fun. We played some serious ball!

Lex Scully

15'S BASKETBALL

16'S BASKETBALL

Sixteen's basketball was ... well, you win some, you lose some. The three veterans welcomed the eight rookies with open arms, and the eleven of us and Mrs. Glennie had a great season. Our record improved from last year, and with only two players graduating, we have a solid base for next year's team. We had to compete against some tough teams like Madonna (she plays very well), and we put up a great fight. The dinner at Lime Rickey's and the sweat pants are amazing. Thanks to Mrs. Glennie for a great season and good luck to next year's team!

This year the field hockey team worked hard and had fun; we played some great games. Everyone improved throughout the season bringing our team up to a third place standing by the end.

For the fifth year in a row the field hockey team participated in a tournament held on Sunday, October 14 at Sunnybrook Park. The team arrived on Sunday morning excited and determined to play their best. We played five games altogether, winning two, losing two, and tying one. By the end of the day everyone was tired but happy. It was a great day.

This year we have started an indoor field hockey team so we can continue to play throughout the winter, and we hope to get back on the field in the spring of '91. Hopefully with all our practice planned for the rest of the year we will do even better in next year's fall season and still have as much fun! GOOD LUCK in the years to come Branksome!!

Andria Young

FIELD HOCKEY

Back Row: Sara Richardson, Kelly McKeown, Kate Bosher, Jessica Fiorillo, Sarah Hunter, Paula Thomson, Heather Graham. Front Row: Shannon Hardie, Amanda Cliff, Trisha Koutsaris, Carolyn Dempster, Arlene Ingram, Gillian Aruskin, Karen Young, Sam Yamada, Sarah Hepburn.

La de daaah ... La de daaah ...

MUD, RAIN, GALE FORCE WINDS, SKI HILLS, THE RES.

Are we crazy? ... hmm ... well ... no. Though lots of people can't understand why, anyone on the cross-country team will tell you that we run because it's fun. (Of course the Camerons may say it's for the hardware and the boys.)

This year, for the first time in years - if not ever, the cross-country team sent three complete teams to OFSAA in London, Ontario. We were also able to easily defend our title as overall TDCAA GIRLS' CHAMPIONS.

Thanks Mrs. Woolley for all of your time - you certainly helped the team reach new PEAKS this year (Chicopee for example). Never has the saying - "We couldn't have done it without you" - been more true. You are the greatest.

Sarah Hunter

Early in the fall a group of excited, cold and energetic tennis players gathered for a day of tennis playing at Mayfair West. Our junior and senior team played excellent matches. Our junior mixed doubles and senior doubles made the finals.

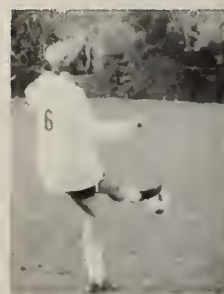

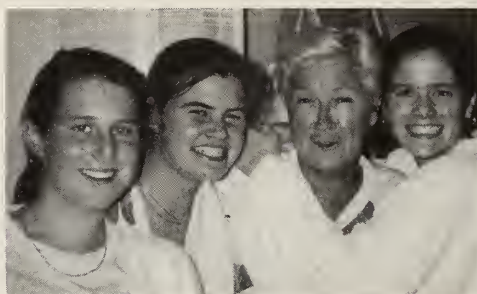

It was a really fun day. Thanks Mrs. Jennings.

SYNCHRO

This year has been a busy year for the synchro team members. We have been preparing for I.S.A.A.G.'s which are being held at the beginning of March. Plans are also well under way for the annual show in May which promises to be a big "splash". Special thanks to Mrs. Lumsdon and her never-ending supply of goggles and nose clips. We never could have done it without her!

Sarah Hepburn
Cassandra Keefe

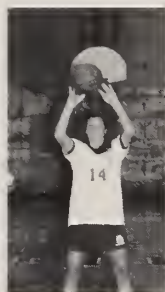

Follow our bubbles B.S.S. and Havergal 'cause we're never going to follow yours. And we never did this year. Branksome won an impressive four out of five swim meets so far this year and we hope to do just as well at the TD's. The team has a very high school spirit and they have a great amount of determination and confidence which I hope they keep up in years to come. I would like to thank the swimmers for having me as swim team captain and wish next year's captain and team the best of luck. Hopefully they will win the Bishop Cup for the 18th time in a row!

This was a very exciting year for the badminton team, since we were able to use the new gym and new equipment. There was a great number of people who tried out and our spirit was awesome! We'll all miss our Tuesday morning 7:30 practices and the hot music during our warm-ups. A special thanks to Mrs. Bennett who kept us going, and Sarah Bowen, who helped coach. It was a really fun season and we all improved a lot!!

16's BADMINTON

This year's 16's badminton will be more exciting than ever with amazing newcomers and the experienced old-timers. This season will prove to be one of our best. We are sure to win with the expert coaching of Mrs. Bennett, and assistant coach Sarah Bowen. We're training hard for a victorious year! Now that the new gymnasium has been completed we can have more games at Branksome and have the moral support and spirit that we need during our games from our fellow Branksomites.

Nancy Borotra

This year's volleyball team definitely beat every school with all our spirit and our infamous cheer. Our skill improved immensely throughout the season, and with a practice 4 times a week, I think our shape did too. The new gym seemed to bring us lots of luck. Thanks to everyone who helped out and especially to Mrs. Jennings whose coaching was awesome!

16's VOLLEYBALL

Our season this year was a victorious one for surviving the warm-ups that unbelievably got done running, spiking, bumping, diving we were tough soldiers so bruises were nothing.

Sandwiches, chocolate bars, chips and lots to drink were the team's essential fuels to make the enemy sink.

Workouts were filled with as many practice games it let

No cheating on points and who said who puts down the net?

Thanks Mrs. Woolley for your knowledge and your patience and hey let's get those x-country girls a ball in their hands and we'll see!

Judy Tjan

This year, Branksome's 40-woman hockey team broke all barriers. We trampled across every raging B.S.S., Havergal or St. Clement's team we faced (or so we had hoped!) Everyone now knew Branksome as "tough-to-beat" (well?) 'No problem,' we all thought as we entered the B.S.S. tournament. The result? ... We played really well!! Thanks to Paula Schutz and Kristen Kizoff for helping us out! - Hey guys: kill number two! Well, an incredible season. And remember: we didn't win, but at least we're cool!

Sarah Clappison

HOCKEY

SKIING

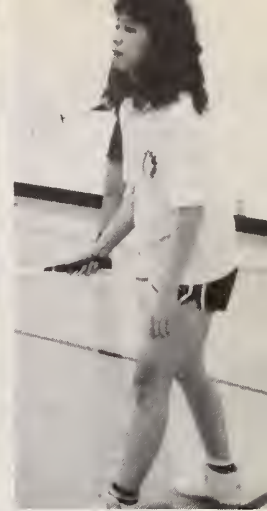

Kerry Walsh, Ellie Hawke, Gill Collins, Sarah Bright, Nikki Kirkpatrick. COACH: B. Glennie.

After the time trials at Snow Valley, the Branksome Ski Team was carefully selected. The veterans, Sarah Bright and Kerry Walsh, gained some new rookie teammates Gill Collins, Ellie Hawke, and Nikki Kirkpatrick to make up a spirited, highly talented squad.

The T.D.C.A.A. Ski meet was held at Georgian Peaks Ski Club on February 14. Branksome did extremely well with a solid 2nd place finish in both slalom and G.S. Congratulations should go out to Gill who had a strong finish in both disciplines. Special thanks must go to Mrs. Glennie who was an awesome coach and team leader. She not only organized her racers, she organized the whole race! Thank you for all your hard work Mrs. Glennie! Best of luck next year Team!

REVENGE IS SWEET IN T.D.C.A.A. SOCCER

Yeehaw! We won! We left B.S.S. licking the mud off our cleats. Last year's near miss to them made our victory even sweeter. It was intense from the first kickoff until the last whistle. Our crowd's cheering overpowered our rival's by far, and it didn't stop there. Our offense was awesome, our mid-field was magnificent, our defense divine, and our goalie was great. Thank you Mr. McVay - we held up our end of the bargain, now where's that two-four?!

"We are the champions, my friends." - Queen.

Best of luck next year, if you make it to the finals, we'll be back!

Chris and Tina XOXO

THE WINNING BALL!

OUR SWIMMING CHAMPIONS

THE BISHOP CUP

The Bishop Cup was the last meet of the year, but not the last meet of the season. It was a mark that Branksome swim team had left to let the other teams know that we were not a team to be played with. We won a few of the divisions and swam very strongly in the others, even though we didn't always come out on top. Overall we won the meet, out-swimming Havergal, our closest competitor. The seniors proved to be unbeatable, but it wasn't just the seniors who won - it was everyone, and the meet wasn't only won by points, but also by school spirit.

T.D.C.A.A. FINALS

This was the last meet of the season, and I can honestly say that it was the best. Everyone swam their hardest and I knew that the amount of adrenaline flowing through their bodies had something to do with it. Never have I seen such high school spirit either - Thanks Amy! The meet was a very successful way to end the year, especially since we beat our long-time competition Michael Power for the first time in awhile. I'd like to make special mention of Andrea Rogers and Andrea Jamieson who have been on the swim team since grade seven, and were the backbone of the team, - you guys were great! Special mention also goes to Cassie Keefe, Tina Lung, Kristina Thompson and Sarah Hepburn for making our win over our competitors even easier. Lastly, I'd like to thank the team and Mrs. Lumsdon for having me as captain, and making me proud that I was captain of such a great team. Thanks guys - you were great!!

ANDREA
ROGERS
OUR

SPORTS CAPTAIN

What a year we have had in the wide world of Branksome Sports. First out of the starting blocks, our fall teams led the way with ISAAG victories by the swim and soccer teams. The cross-country, tennis, field hockey and basketball teams helped to maintain our lead with strong finishes. Branksome's winter sports began the next lap well ahead of the others. Our hockey, volleyball and badminton teams earned many victories throughout the season. Well done! Finally, Branksome's spring teams pulled into the final lap with flying colours (Red, Green, Black and White). Strong performances by all of our teams, track, soccer, baseball, tennis and rowing finished off the race. The Branksome Crew has won the race but it could not have been done without the effort and support of the coaches, the athletes and the fans. Also with our new gym, we are guaranteed strong finishes in the future. Branksome, continue to go for the gold. Good Luck!

GAIA

With help from Captain Ecology, Wally the Wasteful, and Sludge, the members of GAIA work incredibly hard to help make Branksome more environment-friendly, and have an amazing time doing it! From raising money to help this school's environmental projects, to promoting and looking after the new composter, everyone who participated made a real difference. Thanks to Mrs. Merrilees and all those who came out. Remember: Think Globally, act Locally!

OPHELEO

The Opheleo society is an illustrious group of individuals who give up their time and energy to organize and participate in fundraising events for charities. This year they have volunteered at many events such as the Children's Aid Christmas Party and Carnival. They have organized food drives, with the donations going to the Daily Food Bank. On the home front, they have been active participants in Ramabai Week. Ramabai Week was very successful thanks to the creativity of the Chieftains and the participation of the students. We all enjoyed the Cookie-O-Grams, bingo games, raffles and the Rock'in Band. Together, with the ROUT we raised a substantial amount of money that will go to support charities like Camp Awakening, Covenant House, AIDS research and other local charities.

This year has been both a successful and enjoyable one for me as well as the "team". I would like to thank everyone for doing their part to help out. Hopefully, our efforts did make a difference, even in a small way. Special thanks to Sara Pickersgill and Mrs. Watson for always being so supportive.

Keep smiling, Kerry Walsh

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

The main objective of this year's public affairs club was to encourage more participation from the student body. Every single girl should be given the opportunity to learn more about the world that exists outside of Branksome, and that is what the public affairs club offered. We hosted many lunchtime speakers from various organizations and different walks of life, so that people could ask questions and voice their opinions. Whether the issue was abortion, anti-fur, the GST, Feminism, or women in the fashion world according to Flare magazine, many interested girls came out and ate their lunches while "feeding" their curiosity at the same time. Thank you to all of you who participated in one way or another. We hope that the keen interest in the outside world never dies!

DEBATING

It's a stressful time, sitting on a side bench after the first debating announcement, waiting for people to come. Debating always seems to be the last thing on most people's minds. But there has been a great amount of support, right from the beginning of the year. There has been a lot going on; after-school debates with St. George's, UCC, TFS, and Havergal, the tournaments at TFS, St. Clement's, and Victoria, among others, and the Fulfords, the most staggeringly successful one having been held here at Branksome this past February. And perhaps most importantly, we have succeeded to get another year in showing the boys' schools (one in particular) that Branksome debaters are not to be dealt with lightly. Thanks to everyone who put her time and effort into debating, and a special thanks to Mrs. Brown, Kate, Meredith, and Mrs. Zommers.

DUKE OF EDINBURGH

The Duke of Edinburgh Award Programme requires that each participant complete service in the community, pass specific physical tests and pursue a hobby for a specified amount of time. The Club got off to a great start this year with one of the largest enrollments ever. We met on Tuesdays at lunch to discuss our work and progress. The Club goes on many expeditions during the year, one of which was a rock climbing trip. The programme is both educational and fun. Congratulations to all those who received their award this year and a special thank-you to Miss van Straubensee for all her time and dedication.

O.S.A.I.D.: Ontario Students Against Impaired Driving - committed to convincing everyone not to drive while under the influence of alcohol or any other kind of drug. Through movies and other forms of education, we tried to achieve our goal this year. We welcome all students and staff at Branksome to support the cause and want to increase awareness surrounding this issue. We must all be aware of the serious consequences and realities concerning impaired driving. Everyone must take an active role and must help stop the senseless loss of life to drunk drivers. Remember - Only you can stop impaired driving!

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council this year has been incredible. Every Wednesday this enthusiastic and very vocal group of girls has met to discuss everything from condom machines to boarder-day girl relations, and from peer counselling to drinking and driving. We have set up an O.S.A.I.D. group, a committee on boarder-day girl relations and have held Awareness Weeks.

Everything we have done this year has been due to the unfailing energy of all the council members - Class Presidents, House Presidents, Heads of Societies and Grade Prefects. I'm sure that the Student Council will continue to be an excellent way for every Branksome student to voice her opinion.

Thanks, Katie Hilton

KILT PRESS

This year, the Kilt Press has been a great success. Everyone in the school could not wait to get her hands on limited copies of the HOT school newspaper. The K.P. covered school events, the entertainment, and many literary works of students, as well as the world events. Our glorious success could not have happened without our fantastic members. The writers were enthusiastic, full of ideas and opinions. The production and the distribution crews were helpful, devoted and understanding on deadline days when I became devastated and cranky. Thanx to all the members, the staff advisors, the office ladies and Mrs. Church. The K.P. could not have made it without all your support.

THE CLASSICS CLUB

This year's Classics Club includes about fifteen members, in three sections. One group attends a monthly meeting to prepare for the Classics Conference at the University of Waterloo in May. The second part of the Club is like "Greek as a Second Language." Enthusiastic girls meet every Friday to learn the Greek alphabet, numbers, and derivatives. The last section is a group which meets occasionally to read, listen to and discuss Greek literature in translation. They began the year with Sophocles' Oedipus Rex.

The whole group plans an outing per term to a Greek dinner or play based on a classical theme.

THE WRITING CLUB

The writing club this year is a fantastic little group, guided by our two staff advisors, Mrs. Fabian and Mrs. Weinstock. We examine different styles of published writers and attempt to include some of their elements in our own writing. Regular assignments deal with the particular components of writing, such as tone or description. Above all, we examine each other's writing thoroughly and criticize it fairly. It's been educational, and most of all, fun!

MUSIC, ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT ...

STAGE BAND

Thanks, Mr. Redstone, we finally got it together. Groovy tunes and early mornings do combine nicely! We had terrific solos by Veronica and Victoria. Our first gig was for the opening of the new gym and we almost knocked their socks off - we managed to kick off a few shoes! Hope next year is as successful!

WIND ENSEMBLE

Well, well, well - definitely a year to go down in band history. It's a little difficult to write this in December as we are just getting into the groove of things (a little music terminology there). Well, in anticipation of a great end to an already amazing year, I guess I'll say - Wow, was that band trip ever good! A Tour of New England - I'll never forget it. And we can't forget our concerts - definitely high quality stuff. Oh, and I almost forgot - Lynda, we're having a meeting tomorrow. But seriously folks - Band, Mr. Redstone, thanks for a super year. May your crescendos always be soft and your decrescendos always be loud.

SENIOR CHOIR

We have done a lot in Choir this year. We had a great time doing our own Carol Service. ISMF was fabulous fun as usual and our Ivy League Concert Tour was a great success. Mr. Bickle was a wonderful leader, as usual, and it helped having his gorgeous son, Scott, supporting us at our performances. Thanx to everyone for Friday mornings, Mr. Prower, doughnuts, TCS "singers" and for always having a smiling face.

Thanx for good times, great tastes in a fab place.

CHAMBER CHOIR

The Chamber Choir is a group of 9 girls who meet as often as possible on Mondays after school. All of us love to sing and we have a great time together. Although we are a difficult group to get together, in the same place, at the same time, we did manage to put on quite a few successful concerts. These included the Carol Service and our trip with the Senior Choir and Band to the Ivy League Schools in the States.

We'd all like to thank Mr. Bickle for being a great leader and sharing his adorable children with us. It's been a great year and I hope we can look forward to more fun and maybe more babies (?) next year.

JAZZ CHOIR

The Jazz Choir is having its 1st successful run this year. A small group of "ya dots" we are, led by a "bee-bopping" Miss Olfert. We girls in the Jazz Choir love to sing at Christmas Concerts, Spring Concerts and in prayers at boys' schools. We love to wear light blue garter belts and shimmy around our microphone stands. Thanks to Miss Olfert for a great year! Well, it's time to cook the turkey - see ya in September.

DRAMA EXECUTIVES

They were seven semi-strangers. A light, a sound, a needle, a thread, a prop, a powder puff, and a stage. Together, they became organized (?) and helped make drama the best year ever! Meetings (yeah, whatever!), rehearsals (laughs), productions (stress), closing curtain (tears), they were there through it all, with their fearless leader by their side: Miss Friend. I personally would like to thank these girls for doing a most excellent job!

DRAMA PRODUCTION STAFF

Seldom seen or recognized, but always in demand. The backstage crews include: costume, lighting, make-up, set, sound, and stage. Every individual spends her spare time, throughout the year, between the drama room and the stage. For the first year this group has been committed to every Branksome Hall production: Pizzazz, the Grade Nine play, Our Town, and the Junior School play. This year we worked towards commitment; next year, our goal is to achieve recognition. We extend thanks to Miss Friend - it's been a great year!

GRADE 9 DRAMA

This year the Grade 9 drama club presented the "Appolo of Bellac". Though we weren't sure how the performance would turn out, it ended up being okay.

We made it through several mishaps, (no handbag, laryngitis, a bat in the gym, tonsillitis and "What do I say") but this made it even more fun.

Miriam, our director kept us going, and if it weren't for her we would have never made it.

A couple of Saturdays and a lot of evenings were well worth the outcome.

DANCE AND SING, GET UP AND DO YOUR THING!
The Beta Kappa year was a great one! Our first dance, THE ROUT on Nov. 3 was fantastic. All of the Branksome cowgirls made the HOEDOWN a great success! The formal, on March 2nd, turned up the heat for the March Break. Thanks to an awesome DJ and girls who truly knew how to rock 'n' roll! The student council did a fantastic job on The Strawberry Festival semi-formal dance in the spring. Thanks to all the dedicated people who helped make Beta Kappa a success throughout the year. It has been the first year of the recreational club and there was a great turnout of tennis enthusiasts. Unfortunately, we got struck by a lot of bad weather. If it wasn't rain one day, it was too cold another day, but we did get lucky with some great sunshine on some of the other days. Thanks to all those who came out, Mlle. Every Wednesday afternoon, this enthusiastic group of girls marched down to the Bloor Valley Club to play squash. With the help of Mrs. MacLellan, our coach, we all learned the strokes which soon led us to play matches. We all struggled through our games, especially those played on courts with spectator windows. By the end of the season we had all improved our skills and came to appreciate a new sport.

Thanks to everyone who came out and especially to Mrs. MacLellan, who planned and organized the club in a way in which everyone had fun.

SCHOOL INTERRELATIONSHIPS ...

ALUMNAE REPRESENTATIVES

This year we were asked to represent the student body for the Alumnae Association. Part of our commitment has been to attend monthly meetings full of fun, festivities, and of course, food. We also think that we have been in the Blue Room more than any other students (Ooooh ... Aaaaah!!) The people have been friendly and enthusiastic to hear what has been going on throughout the year both in school and residence. We have enjoyed working with this vivacious and dedicated group of ladies immensely. Thank you for the incredible experience. Best of luck in the future, and continuing success with the Shop!

lots 'o' love,

PARENTS' ASSOCIATION

As the Student Liaisons for the Parents' Association, it was our job to attend the monthly meetings in order to keep the Executive up to date on student activities. We experienced first hand, the tremendous amount of work that goes into projects for all students by a group of dedicated individuals. We would like to thank everyone for giving us the opportunity to express our opinions and for exposing us to such a vital organization.

Good-bye Branksome.

COMMUNICATIONS CLUB

The dedication of the Communications Club is truly beyond measure. Imagine a group of girls who get up every morning to set up Prayers for the rest of the school - without a word of thanks. They alone know how to work the volume dial on the podium and which switches belong to which lights. Thank you to Mr. Bickle and Miss Brown for playing the hymn every morning.

MEMORY

I remember one day when I was little, I guess about seven or eight, and Mom was out in the garden, and Dad was barbecuing in the backyard, and I had absolutely nothing to do. I went outside and sat down on the edge of my driveway in the warm, Sunday afternoon sun. Actually, I'm not quite sure it was a Sunday, but when I think back to it I get in one of those Sunday afternoon moods, where everything is calm and lazy and family oriented. The mood when you're relaxing because you feel it's the last chance you'll get, since tomorrow is Monday and you've got an entire week ahead of you again until the weekend. Now that I think of it, I guess that I don't really like Sundays.

But anyway, I was sitting on the driveway that Sunday afternoon and I was thinking about how incredibly bored I was, and trying to write on the pavement with a white, jagged stone, when my attention was completely captivated by a tiny ant hole in the crack of the sidewalk. I watched intently as the little ants carried out one grain of sand at a time to make their little home bigger. I'd never really given much thought to how much work it must be for the ants to make their hole. They must have to move thousands and thousands of grains of sand individually, and then after all that someone will probably come by and step on it.

Without really thinking I got a tiny little twig and pushed some of the sand back into the ant hole. Not covering it entirely, but just filling it up a little bit. The poor ants went scurrying about and probably had to redo all the work they'd done in the past hour or two. I felt awful! So I ran into the house to get them some food.

I came back with some crumbs that I sprinkled all over and around my ant hole and I watched carefully as the ants came out eagerly and carried the food back down in the hole. They'd even sometimes carry pieces that were bigger than their entire bodies. I felt so happy that I'd given them something to eat. I hoped that the food had made up for the sand I'd pushed back in the hole.

I wondered if they knew that I'd put the food there, or, for that matter, if they even knew that I was watching them. Then I wondered if there wasn't some big giant watching over me and was just as fascinated with watching a bunch of little humans as I was watching the bunch of little ants. I began to wonder about that a lot afterwards.

Then I thought back when I was in the subway during rush hour the other day, and there were so many people streaming through the tunnels, not talking or even really looking at each other, just hurrying blindly towards their destination. For some reason it reminded me of the ants. I'm not quite sure why.

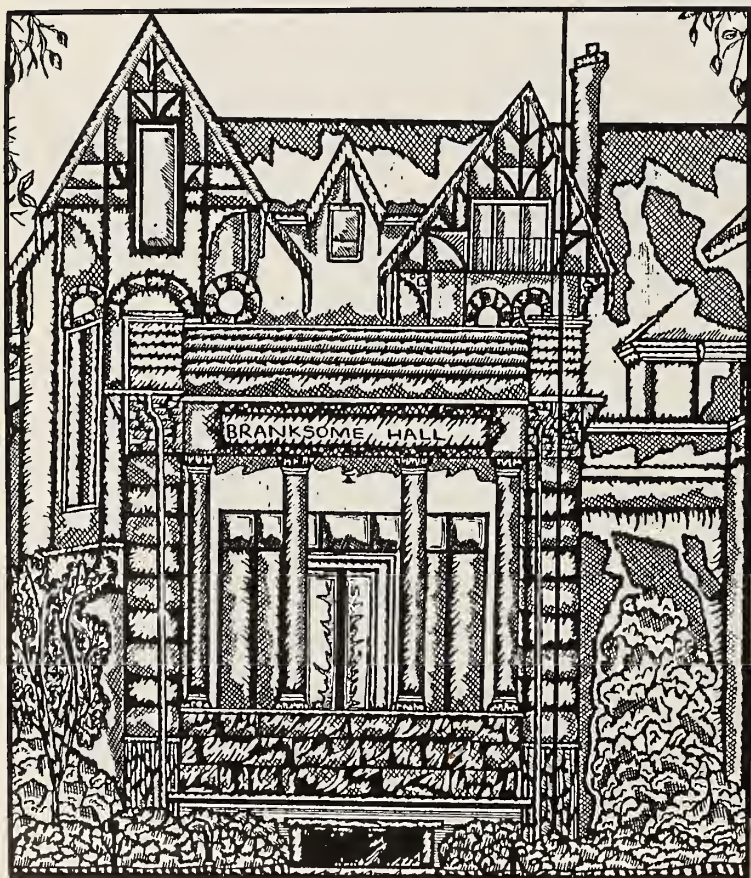

I guess I'd been sitting there watching them for about an hour or so when my father called me to eat, because the barbecue was ready. I quickly sprinkled a couple more crumbs around the hole and ran into the house.

After I ate, I grabbed an apple core to bring out for my ants to feast on. But when I got outside there was a tire track running through the sand in the sidewalk where my ant hole had been. I simply stood there and stared at it for awhile. Not until I started back into the house did I notice that I had tears running down my cheeks. I don't know why I was crying, it was only an ant hole, things like that happen all the time.

I'm not quite sure why I remembered this; it just simply came to mind. It's funny how we remember such small and insignificant things so clearly. And, by the way, I don't have time to watch ant holes anymore. I'm far too busy.

ENLIGHTENMENT

We were both seven that year; me in my cousin's hand-me-down cords with the brown iron-on patches at the knees and she in her new Levis with red Nike sneakers. Play clothes. We were outside in her garden, hanging upside down from the jungle gym, shins hooked under the rungs, thighs flat across, arms hanging down, faces turning red. I could never stay like that for very long -- my face would feel hot and my stomach begin to feel sick. But Sally could go on for what seemed to be hours, while I sat on the orange plastic slide below, watching and waiting until she was ready to acknowledge my presence again.

Sally and I weren't friends, but daughters of. Her momma and mine went to school together so long ago, Momma says, I can't even remember the date. While Sally hung upside down on the swing set and I watched her with admiring jealousy, Momma and Penny would be sitting on the wooden chairs on the back porch, sipping white wine spritzers out of beautiful crystal glasses. They said they were out there to watch us play, but they weren't really. Half the time they forgot about us, especially when they became wrapped up in their stories and started pouring the white wine straight into the crystal glasses. Momma would twist the stem of her glass so that the sun would catch the crystal and make a kaleidoscope of rainbows on her legs as she laughed.

Once, I had stayed on the swing set upside down for longer than I ever had before: I could feel the blood rushing behind my ears and my stomach jumping all over the place, but Sally had called me chicken for not staying as long as she could and I had gotten so mad. At her, at the fact she had blue jeans and I only had cousin Dave's old cords, at her red Nikes with the glow-in-the-dark laces -- at everything. I got so mad I thought I would push her into the orange slide, where I always sat, but instead, I had climbed up and stuck my feet through the bars. Penny and Momma were sitting on the back porch, they could have stopped Sally from being so mean if they had been "watching us play", but in reality they were gossiping about someone's messy divorce. I could hear their voices, the wind whistled them by my ears: Penny's fast tittering voice and Momma's cool and detached tone. Their laughter blended together in harmony, and it made me feel good to hear them laugh. I closed my eyes and listened to that music for just a minute, smiling at how it tickled my ears right there, upside down on the jungle gym. I didn't want to be the one to stop it or to break the pattern of colours dancing through Momma's glass.

I opened my eyes and grabbed a rung with my cool, dry hands. Flipping around, I changed my grip so that I was suspended three feet off the ground and enjoying the experience of being weightless. Then I dropped to the ground with a thud, dusted off my patches on my knees and told Sally we would play astronauts instead.

UNDERFOOT

It lay alone, like a drop of blood
From someone's blue lapel.
The poppy silently represents
All those who suffered hell.
People look down and see it,
Not bothering to stoop.
They just step over it or tread
It under, not thinking of the troops
Who died for it and freedom
For me, for him and you.
Yes, you, my friend, you cried
Too soon, not even knowing why.
You cried because it was the thing
To do, not thinking of those who died.
I do not think you understand.
You probably never will.
I cried as well - but not for peace -
For the soldier who now lies still.

WHERE?

As I walk through the threshold
I am one in a plethora of the same.
Searching for a separate identity -
I have found it
But it is a lie.
Searching for a separate identity -
Somewhere.

AN OBSERVATION

Once I looked up to the people we refer to as being artsy. My friends and I would walk up and down Queen Street admiring them - the men with their long, dark hair, foreign-looking get-ups and ethnic beads adorning their pale, white necks and fragile wrists. The women appeared much like their male counterparts and both sexes had pasty, white skin which looked as though it had been stretched over their skinny, gaunt faces like canvas over a stretcher.

We respected their boniness and look of ill health as we assumed that it was a result of starvation and the suffering they had to undergo to pursue what they loved best - and we all know that art, music, acting and forms of dance are not often profitable.

As we passed them we strained to hear their intellectual discussions, hoping to hear something about the meaning of life and death; something that could possibly give us some insight into the lives we had ahead of us; something that could possibly make us more complete, deep beings.

Unfortunately their voices were muted by the oncoming traffic and the crowded street. Crowded street ... as we looked at the street and what seemed to be an endless sidewalk with countless expensive, overpriced stores forming protective walls around it, I realized that the street was populated with clone upon clone of these so-called artsy folk. Suddenly I saw the end of the street ... the end of the sidewalk and the last overpriced store and I came to the realization - the disappointing truth - that these people, whom I had admired for being so different and exotic, were actually all clones of each other.

This "sub-culture" didn't hold the secrets of life. They weren't free spirits; in fact, they had no spirit in their eyes at all. They were lifeless looking people who wanted to make a statement with their appearances, but who were too afraid and insecure to go out on a limb and take a stand themselves. Instead they all resembled each other.

A great number of extremists in one place doesn't have the shocking effect of one standing alone.

They didn't have any great answers or philosophies.

We walked to the end of the street, past the last store and off the curb and began to struggle to find the answers to our own questions.

THE EVILS OF STUCCO

I believe that stucco was invented by the devil, who employs little witches to possess the minds of carpenters who are unconsciously forced to build stucco houses. Well maybe not, but I do believe stucco is evil, evil evil evil!

The word stucco is defined by The New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary Of The English Language as a fine plaster used for covering interior walls and ceilings and for molding decorative work on them. What this dictionary does not mention is that the decorative plaster ruthlessly grabs hold of clothing, skin and small children. Even when one is gently brushing up against a stucco wall, or inadvertently leaning one's elbow against it, the stucco tears the skin or at least leaves a slight, yet painful, abrasion.

There are several alternatives for stucco. In the future I hope to see more extensive use of Mexican ceramic tile or just plain good old fashioned, tasteful wallpaper. I also hope people will try to stay away from plastic wood and polyester curtains.

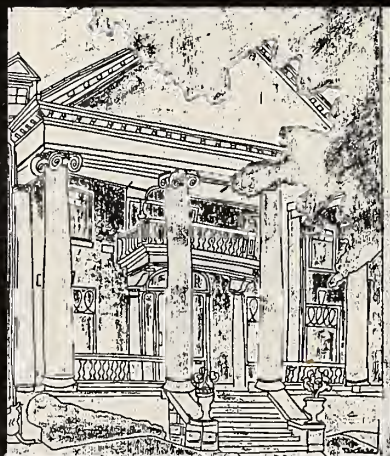

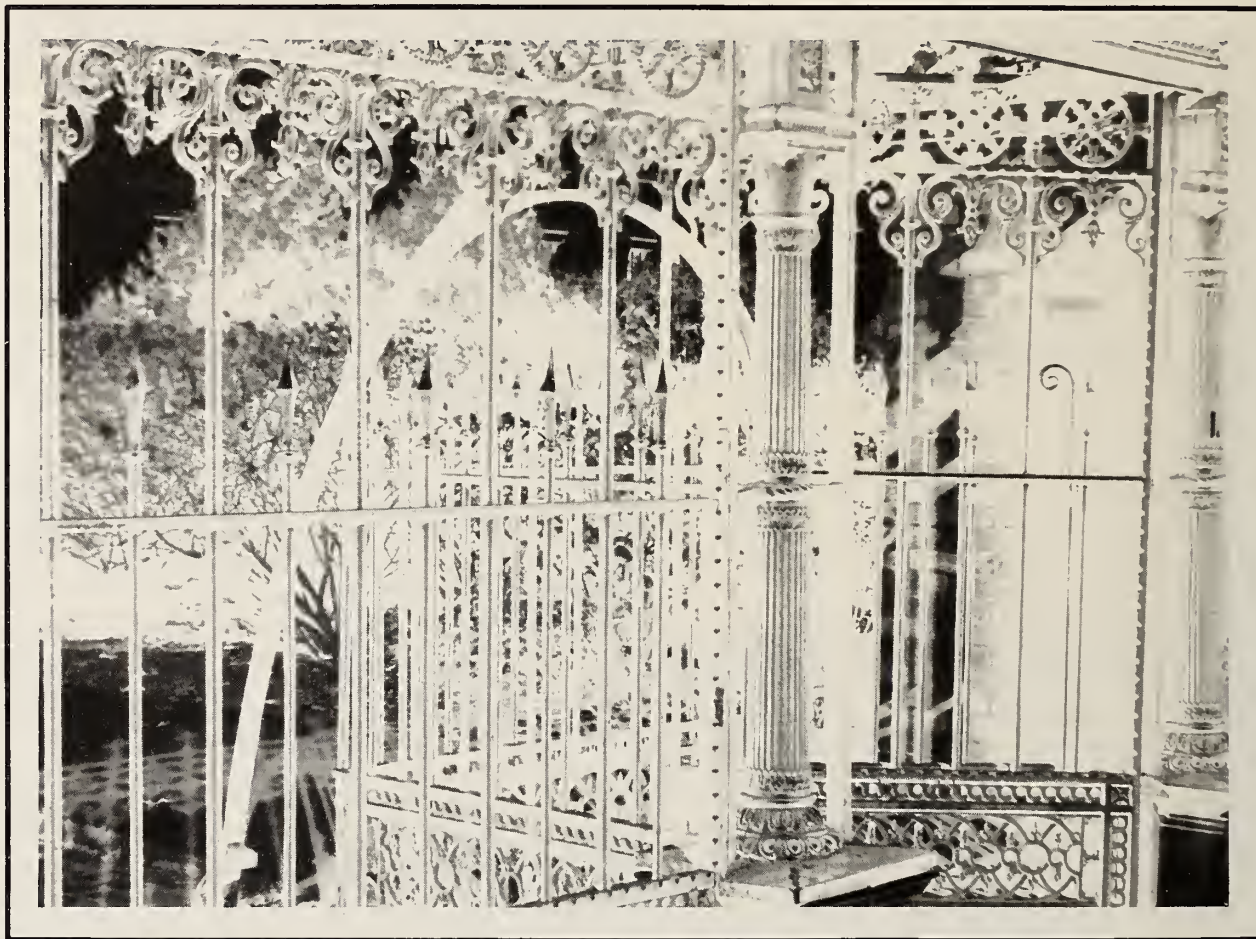

In conclusion remember, that the highest percentage of accidents occur in the home. For the safety of your family, please, beware of stucco.

THE BLACKMAILER, THE MURDERER + THE BOSS

The shot echoed throughout the deserted warehouse. His slated eyes were forever frozen in time. The blackmailer's body slumped forward, while scarlet blood seeped through his thin blond hair.

The blood was far redder than the murderer would have supposed. He did not bother to check for a pulse, the .45 had done the job nicely. The boss had said it would.

The murderer put the gun down on the table, glancing nervously at the blackmailer's corpse. A pool of blood was forming under the body. The murderer walked across the room, accidentally stepping in the blood. Only when he had the gas tank in his hand, did he see his bloody footprints. They reminded him of an abstract photograph he had once seen, except of course in that picture the footprints had been pointed and there had been no blackmailer or murderer.

The blackmailer had been a photographer. Perhaps that photo had even been taken by him. Photographs ... solid proof ... that's what got the blackmailer into trouble, poor idiot ...

The murderer angrily pushed away the sympathy he had for the blackmailer. He had deserved it. The blackmailer could have become very rich, but the plan had backfired on him. The world was a better place without blackmailers. If he had not murdered that fool, someone else would have.

He poured the gasoline over the corpse, the way the boss had told him to; soaking the body. He thought he heard foot steps and let his eyes scan the warehouse. But no one was there. Secretly he wanted to get the job over with as fast as possible. The boss's words were clear in his mind.

"Half now, half when you've done the job". He patted his pocket. It would be worth the money, he told himself. He dropped a lit match on the gasoline saturated body. It burst into flames.

Just then the boss walked out of a shadowy corner of the warehouse. The murderer turned around, startled.

"How long have you been here?" the murderer asked, but the boss made no reply.

"The job's done, give me the other half of the money". Still, the boss made no reply. Too late the murderer realized what was going to happen. He reached for the .45 which was still on the table. He was hit before his fingers even touched the gun. He fell into the funeral pyre he had made for the blackmailer. A .22 also did the job nicely.

The boss stood for a moment watching the murderer's corpse burn. He was so young. Shaking off his sympathy he thought, 'If I hadn't shot him, someone else would have'.

JEUNESSE

Dans le noir, dans la nuit,
Sans aucun petit bruit,
Des étoiles brûlent dans le ciel,
Comme des pilules couleur de miel.

Et toute blonde monte la lune,
Partageant avec elles la voûte commune,
Elles donnent quelque éclat, à la terre tout en bas,
La guerre, la peur elles n'en ont pas.

La lune blasée sourit tristement,
Mais les étoiles, jeunes, s'esclaffent en s'échappant.

NIGHT

The sun sets quickly in Mochmor-Bore. It doesn't waste time on coloured rays or glowing streamers, but dives straight into the western sea, afraid of the dark. Like the sun, the shopkeepers and merchants scurry home, bolt their doors, shutter their windows and set out their dogs.

The city is quiet.

Then the moon rises; the thieves' moon, laughing at the bolted door, the fortified window, scoffing the patricians at home counting their gold, menacing them with her shadows. For with her, she brings the nightlife of Mochmor-Bore; the darkly painted women and entertainers, the acrobats and assassins, the magicians and gypsies. Her children, the thieves.

"Twelve o'clock and all's ... arghh!"

By the main gate, ale is poured, songs are started and the night watchman is stripped of his buttons and fillings. Across town, a distracted soldier is relieved of his coat, his boots and spare change by one who is in cahoots with his distraction. Down by the docks, a blind beggar finds he has "misplaced" his mug and cane and wanders aimlessly off a pier. Somewhere a dog howls and is surprised to find he is no longer attached to the hitching post. In fact both hitching post and attachment are gone.

And the moon watches silently overhead.

In the dark alley behind the mayor's house, a shape moves. It glides from garbage barrel to rooftop with the grace of a cat, more a part of the shadows than of the world around it.

Lying flat on the roof, its voice, like a breath of wind can be heard. "I've got to stop doing this sh ..." and is carried away by the breeze. Slowly, the shape rises and floats along the edge of the roof.

(The moon smiles and the patricians roll over in their beds.)

Like a cat, the shape drops to the balcony, evanescent into the shadows by the door.

(Somewhere below, fortunes are sold and epics embellished. A swordswallower hiccups and, in his astonishment trips on what would appear to be a hitching post.)

The shape reappears on the mayor's balcony, a brown sack over one shoulder. As the moon obscures itself in mist, a shadow shimmies down the drainpipe.

A barely audible sound escapes its lips. "I've got you now, you ba ..." but is lost in the wind as it skirts the alley, vanishing into the night.

Later that evening, a shape can be seen laying a brown sack on the mayor's doorstep. Next morning, the mayor would order the "rubbage" taken from his door and dumped in the harbour.

But for now, the blindman's mug is passed around, stories are told and passions indulged. The moon chuckles over the shades of Mochmor-Bore, and the patricians roll over in bed.

UNFINISHED LESSON

She taught you, very carefully,
That one and two make three
And when to open doors and stand
To give your seat to me.

She told you about Sophocles,
Mathematics and disease,
She spoke of heaven and of hell,
And what to say to please.

But there are broken hearts now
dusty,
That make your past seem shady.
You didn't see them fall and break,
To dim the glory of your wake.

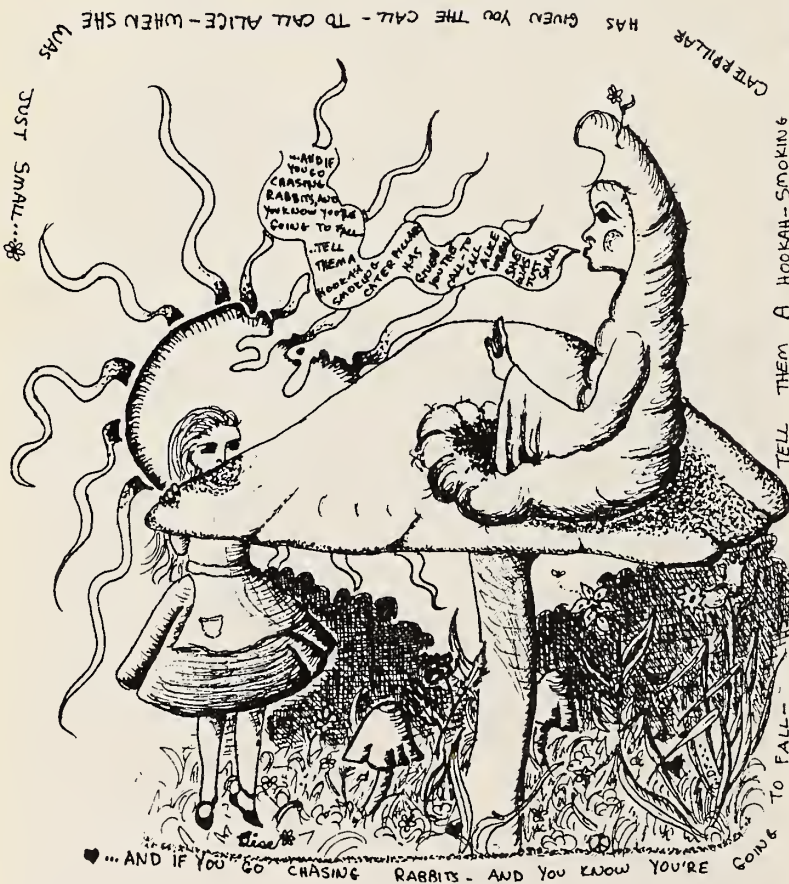

Perhaps your mother didn't say,
Or you forgot, but anyway,
I think you missed the greatest part:
That every human has a heart.

STUDENT LIFE

CLAN SPIRIT !

If you ever need a smile,
A funny joke, a friendly face,
A group of chatty, laughing girls -
It's to clan homeroom you should race.

There you'll find a special group
Much different from your class or grade.
Girls with different things to offer.
Good friends are sure to be made.

Clans do things like bowlaclana,
Murderball and the clan run.
It doesn't matter what we're doing.
Even raising money's fun!

Cheiftains are important people
In this system. This is true.
Without their leadership and their guidance,
No one would know what to do.

The Cheiftains' job is very busy
So, the subs are there with aid.
They are cheerful, helpful, friendly
I hope they know the difference they've made.

Clans would not be in existence
If they weren't in great demand.
Your spirit and participation
Said to us - "Gee, Clans are grand"!

So thanks to all those girls who helped me.
It's too bad this year is gone.
One thing that you should remember -
At Branksome, Clans live on and on!

Thanks for a great year!
Love Cindy

SYNCRO

Pizzazz '90, the first show in the Performing Arts Calendar, hit the boards on November 14th and 15th and the Branksome stage may never witness such celebrity performances again. Combine current favourite hits from Madonna, Paula Abdul and Janet Jackson with golden oldies from the fifties and mix with some Broadway musical showstoppers from A Chorus Line, Annie, Peter Pan and Les Misérables and you have a musical revue of wide-ranging appeal and entertainment value.

During the six week rehearsal period prior to production the Pizzazz cast of singers, dancers, mime artists and musicians worked enthusiastically to perfect their numbers, under the dedicated guidance of Mrs. Sharon Reynolds, Miss Nancy Olfert, Mr. Bruce Redstone, Mr. Daniel Bickle, Mrs. Virginia Binko (Choreographer) and the Dance Captain, Victoria Hartley.

In a musical production of this calibre it is always those students who participate to the best of their ability who gain the most fulfillment. As one Pizzazz musician put it: "I really love being part of a show ... There is such a feeling of co-operation and hard work ... with lots of talent ... It's an awesome atmosphere!"

The Pizzazz cast worked together creatively and conscientiously and their shared success was well deserved.

Congratulations!

BRANKSOME GOODBYE SONG

Oh we came from a land down under and we travelled across the sea,
On Monday it was off to Branksome, our Canadian school to be.
And we made a lot of friends, who we met on the first day,
And they made us very welcome throughout our stay.

de .. de .. G'day Branksome Hall .. de .. de .. yeah we've really had a ball ..

Oh we went on a trip to Ottawa with all the Grade 9's,
And next it was to Washington where we had a WICKED time!
And we've done a lot of shopping and our favourite place to be,
Is the famous Eaton's Centre, it's the only place to be.

de .. de .. Mr. Greenjeans .. de .. de .. Beaver Canoe ..

Well we'll take back lots of memories of this great country,
Not to mention that these days it doesn't get past minus 3.
But we had a fun time in the snow and loved the autumn too,
Now we're looking forward to the beach and the sun we're so used to.

de .. de .. falling snow .. de .. de .. it's freezing cold ..

Oh it's time for us to go,
And were really sad to say so
'Cos we're gonna miss your accents
And all the crazy things we've done.

de .. de .. G'bye Branksome Hall .. de .. de .. Farewell to all ...

BLAME IT ON THE SNOW!
